

not always a good idea
to walk in your fathers steps if he's heading for a brick wall maybe not the best idea to do as he says
maybe you should learn to hold your tongue

better cross the street walk on the other side
you dont waste your time on a lost cause
but your frustrated
in how you feel
cause your just as stubborn as him

and no he doesn't care
what you say
all your kind words
fall on deaf ears
cause life has cheated him tricked him good
all he see's how it could of been

you stand and watch and worry yourself
that you might turn out the same but you love so you must accept that he is just how he is so no more blaming

or being ashamed
he gave you life

and taught you how to see he may of beat you
and hurt you with words but he was there
every single day oh yeah

we all struggle
in our own minds
but why can't we see all the goodness
instead of putting up this useless fight when we could just smile and be grateful