

stick your head into the sand lets see how long you last, while your hiding from yourself and the worlds spinning past, let your soul control where your going

let your soul control where your going
when its all turned to shit and you've nothing to show let you soul control where your going

its not over
its not over

so you jump into a pond so you dont feel so small never satisfied with your life cause your living a lie so take a chance and find out who your are take a chance and find out who you are .

let your soul control where your going
let your soul control where your going
when its all turned to shit and you've nothing to show
let you soul control where your going

its not over
its not over